FROM THE COVER ARTIST:

Like many other artists, my influences are diverse. I draw a lot of inspiration from music, architecture, animation and my heritage. Moreover, I am constantly fascinated by the interactions of light, color and texture and analyzing how they work together to create perspective. In studying those interactions, and realizing that perspective is malleable, I've aimed to make that a focal point in my work as of late. To me, art is about the vision—not the application. And in learning about myself as an artist, I embrace that belief every day.

ABOUT THE COVER:

I created this artwork with the people of Phoenix in mind. The city has changed significantly over the years, yet authenticity finds a way to restore balance. The growing diversity of this city is undeniable, and I wanted to capture that ever-changing identity in a unique way. I hope you'll allow your eyes to wander across this visual playground—noticing elements come together or fall apart with the understanding that everyone who lives here brings a unique story, perspective, and a piece of the puzzle that makes Phoenix a special place.

"IT'S ANOTHER BEAUTIFUL DAY IN DOWNTOWN PHOENIX"

BY ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY
& FARA ILLICH

Completed in January 2022, the mural titled "It's Another Beautiful In Downtown Phoenix" is a colorful homage to Phoenix's agricultural origins, as well as a tribute to the late DTPHX Ambassador Hans Hughes, killed in a bicycle accident in 2021.

The title of the mural comes from a phrase that Hughes, a Downtown aficionado, was known for. He also loved gardening, the desert and Phoenix history—three things mural artists Jake Early and Quinn Murphy hoped to harness in this bright, colorful and intricate piece. In addition to images of Phoenix's distinct flora and architecture (note the mid-century breeze blocks along on the bottom), the mural also takes the viewer on a pictorial journey through some of city's origin story, according to the artists.

Tracing Phoenix's roots all the way back to the beginning, the ancient Hohokam constructed 1,000 miles of canals here in the Salt River Valley between 100 and 1450 C.E. This system paved the way for Phoenix's early settlers in the late 19th Century, bringing large-scale farming and cattle ranching to the area. Blue lines circling the mural represent the Salt River and its ancient canals—some of which are still in use today.

In addition to the representation of water, the mural features a sun with undulating heat waves, surrounded by a warm-toned mountain range, and mosaic sunset sky. With a closer look, the sun, water and mountains are connected to the city's skyline through colors, shapes, and patterns, framing the Downtown epicenter.

Hans Hughes | Studio 616 Photography

Located in Phoenix's original townsite established in 1870, the mural can be spotted on the north side of the Fry Building, one of the city's oldest surviving buildings. Built in 1885, the Fry Building once served as a drug store, a meat market, and the Plaza Boardinghouse on the upper level. For the past 25 years it has operated as Majerle's Sports Grill.

Commissioned by Downtown Phoenix Inc., artists Jake Early and Quinn Murphy were selected to paint the mural through a call to artists hosted by Majerle's, and the local arts nonprofit Artlink.

7 AMAZING BREAKFAST AND BRUNCH OPTIONS

IN DOWNTOWN PHOENIX

BY MER NORWOOD

Whether you're a morning person or an I-need-my-coffee-to-function person, Downtown Phoenix has got you covered for breakfast and brunch. From a hidden gem in a hotel, an upscale Mexican restaurant with a DJ, to beautiful healthy-food options, there's a little something for everyone.

Chico Malo

50 W. Jefferson St.
Phone: 602-603-9363

You may have visited this upscale Mexican restaurant for dinner, but brunch is simply a party over at Chico Malo. Founded in 2017 by husband and wife duo, Teddy and Katie Myers, the restaurant's vibrant, colorful atmosphere is designed to be different from other mainstream Mexican spots.

"At the time, there weren't a lot of restaurants focusing on the beautiful side of Mexican dining culture; it was a lot of canned sauce, yellow cheese, beans and rice," said Teddy Myers about the restaurant's origin story. "We were determined to change that."

Chico Malo is always evolving and pushing the boundaries—the culinary team makes everything from scratch. Expect blue corn tortillas made in-house, homemade sauces, and high-end ingredients. Come for the bottomless mimosas and stay for the music, the fun murals, and the award-winning chilaquiles.

InFruition

901 N. First Street, Ste. 101

It's not every day you can get an acai bowl in a shipping container. InFruition is tucked away in the shipping containers at The Churchill, and is your go-to spot for a healthy breakfast. Established in 2016, the breakfast spot is organic and 100% vegan.

Pick up the Berry Basic Acai Bowl for a berry medley of acai berry, raspberries, blackberries and blueberries. The Chocolate Majesty fruit bowl is a chocolate lover's dream with pitaya, banana and cacao.

Ingo's Tasty Food

101 E. Washington Street
Ste. A
Phone: 602-825-3000

Located a few steps from the Footprint Center, walk into Ingo's and immediately notice crates of oranges for freshly-squeezed orange juice, a case of just-baked pastries from the LGO bakeshop, and the hum of an espresso machine preparing espresso shots for a Salted Butterscotch Latte. There is no secret to Ingo's success because the use of quality ingredients is on display for everyone to see.

"We instill beauty and simplicity in all of our menu items, and we put special care and attention into the details," said Gabrielle Ryan, general manager at Ingo's Tasty Food. "There's love put into every dish—because everything we do is for the guests."

Serving all-day breakfast, grab the most popular menu item, Ingo's Chorizo Burrito, which is a hearty medley of grass-fed beef chorizo, avocado, cheddar cheese, potatoes, and lacto-fermented hot sauce.

Kähvi Coffee + Cafe

214 E. Roosevelt Street
Phone: 602-441-4759

Featuring a contemporary-meets-bohemian atmosphere, Kähvi Coffee + Cafe's relaxed vibe is like a little oasis in the desert. Located in the historic monOrchid building on Roosevelt Row, the rotating local art, earth tones, wicker light fixtures, lush greenery, and cozy lounge areas make for a light, airy and impeccably-designed space.

The menu is as chic as the café itself, and even the coffee drinks exude sophistication. Order the Nitro Old Fashioned, which includes organic Uganda nitro coffee and orange bitters, and don't forget the wine.

"Our wine is eclectic. We do not have the basic, random cabernets, pinot noirs, or chardonnays," said Samia Kohler, operating partner and event sales manager. "We choose these wines because they're funky, they're flavorful, and they have a unique identity."

Regarding the food, Kähvi carries delicious baked goods and pastries, in addition to egg sandwiches, avocado toast, and a killer vegetarian protein bowl.

The Larder + The Delta

200 W. Portland Street
Ste. 10
480-409-8520

From a six-seater spot in the now-closed Desoto Central Market food hall, to a full-scale restaurant at Portland on the Park, The Larder + The Delta continues to make moves—bringing rustic American cuisine to Downtown Phoenix.

"Our approach is to take old-school grandma recipes as well as recipes of my heritage, and tell the stories of what American cuisine really is," said Chef Stephen Jones of The Larder + The Delta.

If you're looking for a cozy brunch spot with personality, look no further.

"Our brunch is a mashup of a James Brown and Yasiin Bey concert with a little Red Hot Chili Peppers thrown in," said Jones. "We like to have fun with brunch, relax and let our hair down some."

Order the breakfast burrito with crispy chicken skin, smoked bacon, crispy potatoes and cheddar gravy to transport your taste buds to the next level.

MATCH Market & Bar

1100 N. Central Avenue
Phone: 602-875-8000

Ignite your appetite at MATCH Market & Bar. Located in the FOUND:RE Phoenix Hotel, the restaurant pivoted from a fine dining, sit-down experience to a casual neighborhood eatery and retail space during the pandemic.

"A fire begins with the strike of a match, and with that, a whole world of possibilities and flavors emerge," said Michelle Rykalsky, director of marketing for the FOUND:RE Phoenix Hotel. "Just as we encourage you to find yourself at FOUND:RE Phoenix, MATCH Market & Bar fuels your flavor."

If you have a sweet tooth, your hardest decision will be between the lemon ricotta waffles with blueberry jam, or the pancakes, complete with Nutella, bananas, crème fraîche, and shaved coconut. When in doubt, just get both.

"Match also means to pair with something," Rykalsky said. "Each dish is designed for sharing, and the entire MATCH restaurant encourages the sharing of space, ideas, conversation and community."

Morning Squeeze

1 N. First Street, Ste. 100
Phone: 602-605-2641

Fun, funky and groovy—these words can only describe the unique breakfast spot, Morning Squeeze.

"We are inspired by the funky and groovy times of the '70s, '80s and '90s—whether it be the bright and friendly colors throughout
